Survey Name: USDA Data Request

Survey Description: The Department has received a data request from Andrew Martin with the Economic Research Service in the USDA. They are collecting data to help analyze some questions regarding farmland ownership and transfers in a variety of locations around the country. While their emphasis is on agricultural parcel data, if all land parcel data is available, they would be interested in that as well. The data is to be used as part of a test program to examine issues of farm and farmer tenure, farm sale and ownership patterns at the county, state, and national levels, and issues surrounding urban growth and development pressures. Location and address data is needed to locate the parcels and parcel owners spatially, and will not be used for contact. Only summary data would be reported, and no information on individual parcels would be revealed. The data would be used internally by members of the project only. This survey will close on Wednesday, September 22, 2010.
